

STLP Showcase Winners advance to State Competition

10 schools in the district submitted a variety of projects that effect/utilize technology at their school at the Regional Student Technology Leadership Program (STLP) Showcase Thursday, Nov. 9th.

7 of the 11 projects submitted were judged high enough to be invited to the State STLP Competition in May of 2007. This is a new record for Clark County Public Schools. All of the groups were ranked very high, but the following schools had projects that reached the qualifying mark for the State Competition.

Projects from Shearer Elementary, Trapp Elementary, Strode Station Elementary, Providence Elementary, Hannah McClure Elementary, Conkwright Middle, and George Rogers Clark HS were invited to Rupp Arena in May to demonstrate how their technology based projects had impacted their communities and schools.
